Legendary player and inspiring teacher.

Kai Haaskivi has been one of the greatest names in American Soccer for the past 30 years. During his 19-year professional career, Kai established himself as a true superstar with the Finnish National Team, North American Soccer League (NASL) and Major Indoor Soccer League (MISL).

The competition he faced was the best in the world: Franz Beckenbauer, Johan Cruyff, Johan Neeskens, Paulo Rossi, Kevin Keegan, George Best, Carlos Alberto, Marinho and Gerd Muller. He knows how tough it was to mark Italy's Giancarlo Antognoni or be marked by Germany's tough Berti Vogts. He's felt the rush of beating famous sweeper Giacinto Facchetti, scoring on Italy's World Cup legend Dino Zoff and chasing the great Karl-Heinz Rummenigge of Germany's World Cup champions.

Following his playing career, Kai became the first Director of the IMG Soccer Academy in Bradenton, FL (1995-1999), where he spearheaded the year-round residential, weekly and summer-camp curriculum. He has coached some of the best known professional teams and both men's and women's college programs. Current Major League Soccer and U.S. National team stars Taylor Twellman, Landon Donovan and DeMarcus Beasley were all on the U.S. U-17 National team during Kai's tenure as assistant coach.

Kai is a member of the National Instructional Staff for US Soccer and holds national coaching certifications with A, B and C licenses.

Take your skills to the next level.
